Funding Summer Public Service

A record 128 students received $525,300 in grants to work in low-paying or unpaid public interest jobs this summer. The grants represent a 50 percent increase over last year and are made possible largely through alumni gifts.

“PILA grants let us become ingrained in our community’s fabric in new ways,” said PILA member and 2015–2016 Student Bar Association President Morgan Lingar ’16.

“Many public interest jobs let us see the positive impact of our work firsthand, challenging us to improve our practice every day. The grants give students an opportunity to explore and learn about their passions in law ... This opportunity often translates into a job directly after law school, a career move later on, or pro bono work.”

TYPES OF JOBS

- Federal Government 69
- Nonprofits 27
- Local/State Government 19 (including Prosecution)
- Public Defender 10
- International 3

// GOING TO LAW SCHOOL AT VIRGINIA WAS THE BEST DECISION

I ever made. I got involved in the Civil Rights Movement outside of school, and watched the polls in a small Virginia town in 1966, the first election after the passage of the 1965 Voting Rights Act. I began to see that my legal education could give me the toolbox of skills to make a difference, rather than just talk. I made some of the closest friends I'll ever have during my law school years. There was something special about the UVA Law School in the 1960s—the country, the South, and the Law School were all changing, and that change was palpable. It's clear to me today that the Law School is even better now than when I was there. But it's become so expensive—like all law schools today—that I worry about good young men and women not being able to become the kind of lawyers they want to be. That's why I've consistently supported the Law School and hope to be able to continue to do so for the rest of my life.”

— Judge Michael J. Fox '69, Ret., King County Superior Court, Seattle, Washington

// I CONTINUE TO REAP THE BENEFITS FROM MY UVA LAW education and my time in Charlottesville is something I will always remember fondly. Choosing to support the Law School with a recurring gift has been an easy way for me to give consistently. As my career has progressed over the years, I've been able to increase my monthly giving in a way that felt natural. I appreciate not having to remember to give every year—by having a recurring gift, the hassle is really taken out of giving.”

— Courtney Dredde Carter '07, Diversity & Inclusion Manager, Jenner & Block LLP, Washington, D.C.

DESPIITE ALL THE WELL-KNOWN AND PROVEN BENEFITS IT PROVIDES,

as a nation we have underfunded and under-valued education at every level. Personally, I have benefitted tremendously from the first-class legal education I received at UVA. Therefore, I feel as though giving to the Law School is both an obligation to give back and do my share as a citizen, as well as a wise investment in the future of our nation. Although I would make an effort to give consistently on an ad hoc basis, the ability to make recurring donations is so convenient and simple that I see no reason to make my annual gift using any other method.”

— James R. Easthom '91, Member, Kennon Craver PLLC, Durham, North Carolina

Advocating for Children

“Virginia Law is a place where students matter. They matter to their professors, they matter to the staff, and they matter to each other.”

Megan Lisa Watkins '16 is the 15th Powell Fellow in Legal Services. She will spend at least one year with the JustChildren Program of the Legal Aid Justice Center, a Charlottesville-based organization that provides legal representation for low-income individuals in Central Virginia.

Watkins will represent at-risk students in greater-Richmond and Petersburg who have been affected by the trauma and struggles that often come with poverty, and who are at risk of being kicked out of school and entering the criminal justice system. Her role involves advocacy and community outreach.

Building a Record of Success

During the 2015–2016 academic year, all 12 students in the Law School’s Appellate Litigation Clinic had the opportunity to present oral arguments for clinic clients before federal circuit courts of appeals. The appeals argued included issues of constitutional law, immigration law, criminal law, federal civil and appellate procedure, sentencing, statutory interpretation, and civil rights. Pictured above are (from left) Jude Halawi ’16 and Dana Wallace ’16, along with Clinic Director Stephen Braga, after Wallace argued Keith Clark v. Larry Cartledge at the Fourth Circuit this spring. Wallace won the case. The clinic in fact was undefeated in the Fourth Circuit, winning all five of its cases there.

In addition to Halawi and Wallace, third-year students who presented cases before the Fourth, Sixth, and Eighth circuits, as well as the Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, were: Travis Andrews, Ricky Camposanto, Clint Cowan, Kyrie Graziosi, Sean Johnson, Brian Remondino, Josh Robbins, Andrew Selman, Katie Tongalson, and Jean Zhuang.

“Having 100 percent of the students in the clinic be able to present oral arguments, in so many different federal courts of appeals, on such a wide variety of issues, made this the most successful year yet for the newly expanded Appellate Litigation Clinic,” said Braga.

Law and Business

“The John W. Glynn, Jr. ’65 Law & Business Program allowed me to view certain courses from a transactional approach and enhanced my understanding of what corporate practice will entail. I am very excited to see how my legal career advances in the coming months and years.”
